

Gain Hands-on Experience and Network with Risk Analysis Professionals

As a graduate student, there are multiple ways you can be involved with the Society for Risk Analysis' 2017 Annual Meeting.

1

ATTEND THE FULL THREE-DAY MEETING for a special student rate of $275 (includes 2018 SRA membership dues). Spend your time attending symposia, roundtables and plenary sessions, engaging with risk analysts at networking receptions and discuss the latest research at the poster session. With dozens of sessions to choose from each day, there are presentations touching a multitude of topics and representing many fields of study.

This year's meeting will be held December 10-14 at the Crystal Gateway Marriott in Arlington, VA. All meeting registrants will be entered into a raffle to win a trip to Norway with the SRA President.

To view the full program, and to register, visit www.sra.org/2017-annual-meeting.

2

ATTEND ANY OF THE 13 HALF-DAY OR FULL-DAY WORKSHOPS led by risk analysis professionals in a variety of fields and gather hands-on experience. Students are invited to attend for just $35 per course.

This year's offerings include:

- Eliciting Judgments from Experts and Non-experts to Inform Decision-making
- Risk 101 – Understanding Epistemic, Ontological and Aleatory uncertainty for Risk Profiling
- Use of Risk Assessments – Key Challenges and Recent Advances
- Monte Carlo Simulation and Probability Bounds Analysis in R (with hardly any data)
- Developing Calibrated Risk Models and Improving Your Risk Intelligence

Workshops will be held on Sunday, December 10 and Thursday, December 14.

For a full listing of workshops offered, a description of each workshop, and to register, visit www.sra.org/2017-annual-meeting.

3

JOIN US MONDAY EVENING, from 6-8pm, for the poster reception. For a reduced rate of $35, you can network with risk analysis professionals and other graduate students and discuss current research in the field. Food will be provided, cash bar available.
