

SRA Electronic Newsletter

World Congress on Risk in Singapore underlines truly international nature of Risk Analysis.

High-level researchers and academics from around the world were represented this July at the 4th World Congress on Risk. Regional organisations came together to streamline the objectives of the SRA and provide insights on risk from a variety of unique perspectives. Familiarize yourself with the many faces of SRA in this month's fascinating newsletter.

Read a full review of the World Congress here.

The upcoming SRA Latin American meeting is set to take place in São Paulo, Brazil in May of 2016. Read more about the theme of "Development and Risks in the Latin American Context" from President Elizabeth Nunes Alves.

SRA China recently hosted their annual meeting in Tangier, Morocco. President Chongfu Huang has put together a review sure to make all no-shows jealous.

日本リスク研究学会

The Society for Risk Analysis
Japan

This November, SRA Japan hosts its 28th Annual Meeting; the first to feature both Japanese and English content. Chair Yoshida Yoshitoku outlines the specifics on registration and how you can take part in this exciting international event.

Yong-Jin Lee of SRA Korea gives a recap of the expert meeting featuring "Nuclear Power and Risk Governance" and sets the stage for their upcoming Annual Meeting on "Infection and Hospital Environment".

President Naomi Cogger of SRA Australia and New Zealand updates us on Prof. Ortwin Renn's visit and what is in store for the future of their regional organization.

NanoSafety Cluster

Following a roundtable discussion at the SRA World Congress, the SRA teams up with the EU NanoSafety Cluster in forming the SRANSC. Members are welcome to take part and can find out more here.

The SRA Twitter campaign shows continued expansion with our tweets reaching as many as 450 users. Please be sure to follow @SocRiskAnalysis and help grow the platform, and be sure to submit your content to be tweeted.

The Intaver Institute has developed a comprehensive risk management and risk analysis software to measure multiple risks and uncertainties that arise in complex project management. Find out why NASA and the US Department of Defense depend on this software in their operations.

The third in our series of exciting webinars will be hosted by Dr. Terje Aven on September 23rd. The topic of this captivating session is "Introduction to Foundations in Risk Analysis." View the full schedule of upcoming monthly webinars here, and sign up before they fill up!

Last month exposure science lost a vital member. Dr. Paul Liroy's detailed analysis of dust after 9/11 provided exceptional insight on the adverse health effects of exposure to the aftermath. This research allowed a tailored treatment of airway issues present in those affected by the particles. Read more about Dr. Liroy in the New York Times.

Copyright © 2015 Burk & Associates, Inc., All rights reserved.
You are receiving this message as a current or former member of the Society for Risk Analysis

Our mailing address is:
Burk & Associates, Inc.
1313 Dolley Madison Boulevard, McLean, VA
402